

1) The total development cost to date of the force's current website.

Development cost is covered by staff as on going work – so there's no extra cost outside of full time roles.

2) The total budgeted cost of the force's current website.

As above, there is no extra cost outside of full time roles.

3) The annual running cost of the force's current website.

The external website is a managed service looked after by Capita. Please see the following link regarding this contract:
