There is no central list of protests recorded by the Force and the only way of obtaining these data is to run a key word search between the two dates. The list of dates provided refer to the date that the log was created/call was made which is not always the date of the protest. The reason for this is if an organisation call to make us aware of their intention to protest the log will be created on the date of the call. However the demonstration itself may not take place until the following day/week/month, a decision would then be made to use the same log or create a second log on the day of the protest depending on the time lapse between the initial call and the date of the planned protest. Some logs are created for a protest that, for example, is set to run every day for seven days (or longer/shorter), for this there will be one running log and not one for each day that the same protest is held. Therefore these data should be interpreted with caution.
