

- 1. As part of its enforcement of driving offences, does the force accept the submission of video evidence by members of the public to report driving offences, whether the recording device is handheld or attached to a vehicle or rider (e.g. dash/handlebar/helmet cameras)?

Yes

If yes, for each of the past four years (2017, 2018, 2019, and 2020, please provide answers for each year separately):

- 2. How many submissions of video evidence were received by the force relating to reports of driving offences?

2018 - 957

2019 - 3242

2020 - 3549

- 3. How many of these reports:

- a. Resulted in prosecution (court action)?
- b. Resulted in a fixed penalty notice being issued and accepted?
- c. Resulted in a driver being offered an NDORS course as an alternative to prosecution/FPN?
- d. Resulted in a warning letter?
- e. Resulted in no further action being taken?
- f. Resulted in some other action being taken (please specify)?

	Resulted in prosecution (court action)?	Resulted in a fixed penalty notice being issued and accepted?	Resulted in a driver being offered an NDORS course as an alternative to prosecution/FPN?	Resulted in a warning letter?	Resulted in no further action being taken?	Resulted in some other action being taken (please specify)?
2017	1	0	0	0	0	0
2018	0	1	0	0	0	1 - Cancelled
2019	196	214	446	0	0	378 – cancelled
2020	202	137	449	0	0	368 – cancelled

NB Please note that this breakdown won't include dangerous driving cases as this is a criminal offence and therefore not a fixed penalty offence nor a collision. This means they would not be recorded on our fixed penalty or collision databases. However, these cases have been captured within the total submission figures provided for question 2.
